

Student Consent to Release Education Records

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, prohibits postsecondary educational institutions from disclosing the education records of students to most third parties without the students' written consent. The parents of St. Thomas students are third parties under the provisions of this federal law and university policy. Accordingly, the University of St. Thomas requires the written consent of its students prior to disclosing most education records/information. The Office of Student Data & Registrar can provide information about exceptions.

This form is for the use of students who wish to voluntarily consent to the release of their education records to a third party. A student who wishes to authorize the university to disclose their education records to a third party should complete this form and provide it to the Office of Student Data & Registrar. A legible copy of the form is adequate consent. This form may be copied for personal records.

- 1. This consent authorizes any university employee who is authorized to access these records (including faculty) to disclose the specified records/information to the specified third party.

- 3. The specified records will be provided by any means deemed appropriate by the authorized records custodian provided that the third party making the request presents this completed consent form or a legible copy of it.

- 5. The university is not required to keep records of disclosures made based on this consent nor is it obligated to notify the student of such disclosures.
- 6. With respect to the third party named, this consent overrides any order I have filed for the non-disclosure of directory information.
- 7. This consent remains in effect as long as an above-named third party is in possession of this form or until midnight of the expiration date set out above.
